What are the risks and what could I get in return?

Summary Risk Indicator

The risk indicator assumes you keep the product until 14 October 2022. The actual risk can vary significantly if you cash in at an early stage and you may get back less. You may not be able to cash in early. You may have to pay significant extra costs to cash in early.

The summary risk indicator is a guide to the level of risk of this product compared to other products. It shows how likely it is that the product will lose money because of movements in the markets or because Bank of Cyprus is not able to pay you. We have classified this product as 5 out of 7, which is a medium-high risk class. This classification takes into consideration two elements: 1) the market risk - that rates the potential losses from future performance at level; and 2) the credit risk which estimates that poor market conditions could impact the capacity of Bank of Cyprus to pay you. Be aware of currency risk. If you will receive payments in a currency other than the official currency of the Member State where the product is marketed, the final return you will get will depend on the exchange rate between the two currencies. This risk is not considered in the indicator shown above. This product does not include any protection from future market performance so you could lose some or all of your investment. If Bank of Cyprus is not able to pay you what is owed, you could lose your entire investment.

This table shows the money you could get back over the next 1.3 weeks, under different scenarios, assuming that you invest GBP 10,000. The scenarios shown illustrate how your product could perform. You can compare them with the scenarios of other products. The scenarios presented are an estimate of future performance based on evidence from the past on how the value of this investment varies on how the value of this investment varies, and are not an exact indicator. What you get will vary depending on how the market performs and how long you keep the product. The stress scenario shows what you might get back in extreme market circumstances, and it does not take into account the situation where we are not able to pay you. This product cannot be cashed in. This means it is difficult to estimate how much you would get back if you cash in before maturity. You will either be unable to cash in early or you will have to pay high costs or make a large loss if you do so. As the recommended holding period is 1 year or less, performance scenarios have been provided for the recommended holding period only and not for any interim holding periods.

The figures shown include all the costs of the product itself, but may not include all the costs that you pay to your advisor or distributor. The figures do not take into account your personal tax situation, which may also affect how much you get back.

What happens if Bank of Cyprus is unable to pay out?

You may, under certain preconditions, be entitled to compensation from the Investor Compensation Fund (the "Fund") for Clients of Banks. Information on the Investor Compensation Funds and the Deposit Guarantee Scheme has been made available to you in the MiFID Pre-Contractual Information Package. If Bank of Cyprus is unable to fulfil its obligations in respect of this product, you may be able to recover some of your investment from the Fund. However, the coverage limit from the Fund only applies to an eligible investor's aggregate claim on Bank of Cyprus irrespective of the number of investment accounts the investor may have with Bank of Cyprus. This means that if you hold two such eligible investments with a total value of EUR 30,000, you will only be covered up to a total amount of EUR 20,000 and will not be covered for the remaining EUR 10,000.
